Milstead Donation to City of Eureka Public Art

In December, the City of Eureka accepted generous gift of seven abstract sculptures, from Janis Milstead of the San Francisco Bay Area to be used as public art. This month, the pieces were installed in public areas in the City of Eureka.

The intention is to add sculpture to the art that is already present in public areas. For this project the sculptures are being installed downtown near G & F Streets, which links the Morris Graves Museum to Old Town. It'll be like an "art walk."

The sculptures are by some of the founding members of the Pacific Rim Sculpture Group, Gayle Wagner, Luigi Testa, Chuck Splady, Gregory Wescott and John Fick. A sculpture by Ed Pogue was also donated.

A 2002 study done by a San Francisco-based firm referenced efforts of the Eureka Main Street program to capitalize on existing assets, the arts.

The study also said Eureka Main Street knows that the arts would help the downtown area carve out a unique niche and increase visits by both local residents and visitors. Public art installations keep us moving in that direction.

Jan Milstead is an art collector from Orinda, CA. She has been collecting pieces from these artists for the past 25 years. She is also a lover of the Eureka Art Scene.

The PRSG was formed in 1988 by six San Francisco Bay Area Sculptors to serve as a forum for sculptors to meet, exchange their ideas, and to show their work. There are currently hundreds of members today.

The plan is to continue adding sculpture throughout the Eureka Downtown area in the coming years. Hopefully, the next installation will feature work by local artists. Stay tuned!
